

The no-call list has improved our lives greatly. Instead of weakening the law, as some businesses would like, I would support a move to expand the existing law to include colleges and other non-profit institutions.